

Feel free to ask questions!

Next: two stages

- Training phase: You will receive feedback on each response, indicating whether it was correct or incorrect, along with explanations. You can replay the sound examples at any time and as many times as you like.
- Qualification session: This stage follows the same procedure, except that you cannot replay the sound examples, and the experiment moves on to the next comparison as soon as you respond. We have set specific performance criteria for participation in this experiment. If your performance does not meet these criteria, your session will end after this stage.

Good luck!

